ABSTRACT

This guide provides descriptions of 2,250 study-abroad programs that take place during the academic year (usually September through June) and that are at least one academic quarter in length (usually 8 to 10 weeks). An introductory section provides information on the Institute of International Education (IIE), IIE publications, use of the guide, planning study abroad, and how to read study-abroad literature. The bulk of the guide consists of individual program descriptions, arranged geographically by region and country. Each listing provides information on program sponsor and name, site, dates, subjects offered, eligibility requirements, academic credit offered, language and type of instruction, costs, housing, application deadline, other information, and contact point. Approximately 75 percent of the programs listed are sponsored by U.S. accredited colleges and universities. Programs are indexed by sponsoring institution, consortia, fields of study, special options, and cost ranges. An appendix contains statistics on study abroad. (MDM)

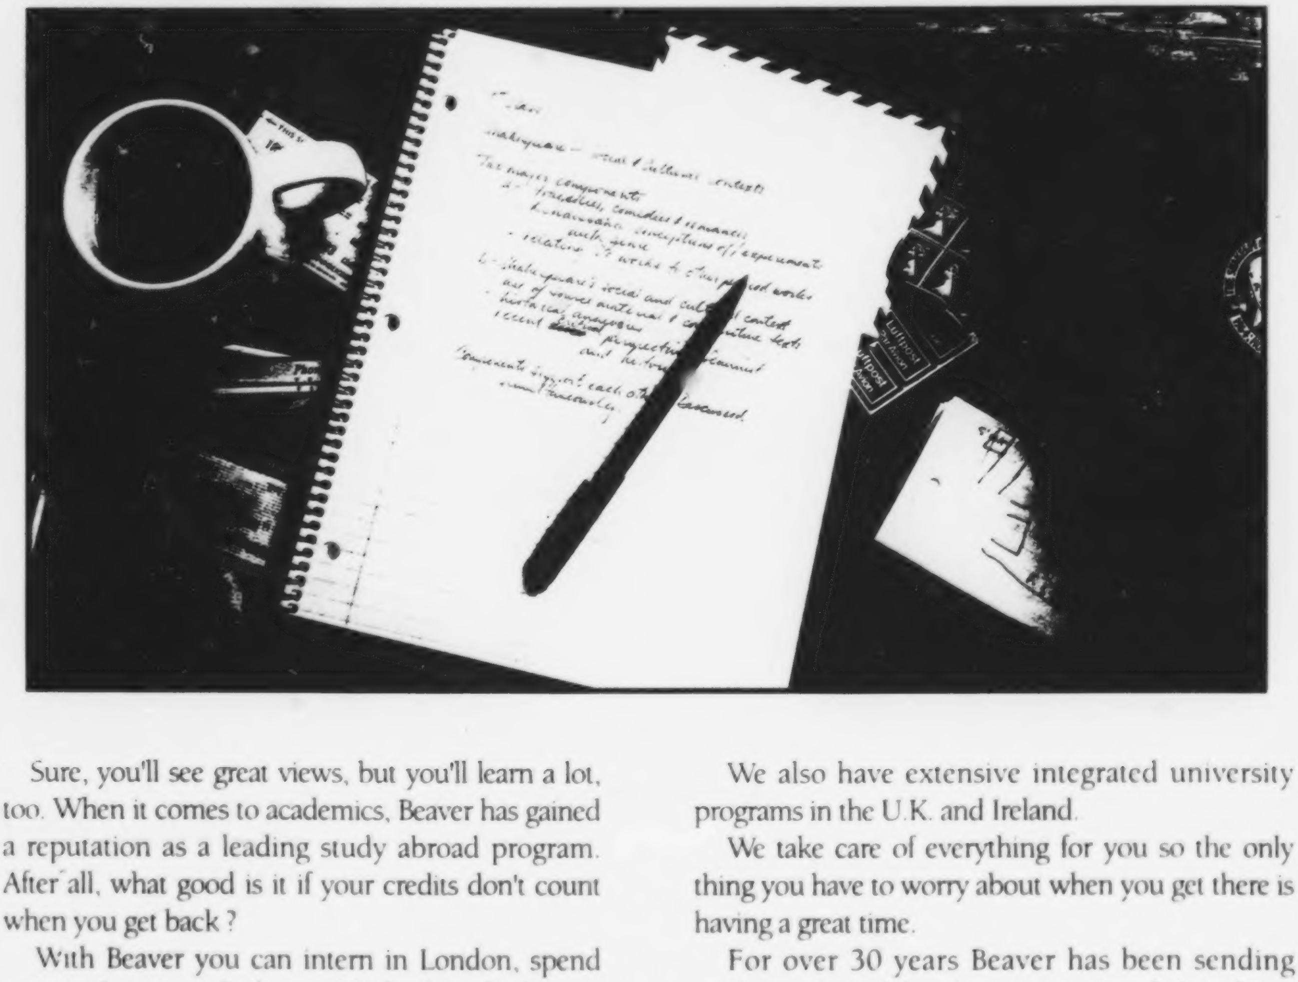
One of the fabulous views you'll see when you study abroad with Beaver College.



Sure, you'll see great views, but you'll learn a lot, too. When it comes to academics, Beaver has gained a reputation as a leading study abroad program. After all, what good is it if your credits don't count when you get back ?

With Beaver you can intern in London, spend time in Austria with the world's leading thinkers in Peace Studies, cycle to class in Oxford or explore ancient Mayan ruins in Mexico. You can even linger at a cafe in Vienna discussing the works of Freud or tour a Greek isle with friends.

We also have extensive integrated university programs in the U.K. and Ireland.

We take care of everything for you so the only thing you have to worry about when you get there is having a great time.

For over 30 years Beaver has been sending students abroad for the experience of their lives. Now it's time for yours.

Call us today for more information or stop by your study abroad advisor to see the variety of experiences you can have with us.

And enjoy the view.

Why

Study here...

when you can study here.

Earn academic credit while traveling throughout:

- Europe and the Mediterranean (40 cities in 16 countries) or
- Asia and the Mediterranean (30 cities in 11 countries)

We could have tried to get your attention with a glamorous travel photo, but the truth is we couldn't find one that did justice to our European and Asian Cultural History Tours. When you travel to so many countries, see so many things and, at the same time, participate in a rigorous academic program of study for college credit, it's almost impossible to describe. What we can tell you is that Eastern Michigan University's Cultural History Tours are the experience of a lifetime. They combine all the excitement and adventure of travel with the academic rigor of the finest college or university courses. We think it just makes sense to study Michelangelo's "David" while standing in its 16 foot presence or learn about China while walking on the Great Wall. Call Eastern Michigan University's Office of Academic Programs Abroad at 1-800-777-3541.

Institute of International Education

The Institute of International Education (IIE) is the largest U.S. higher educational exchange agency.

IIE builds international understanding through educational exchanges that reach nearly all the world's nations. Many IIE programs further international development goals.

A nonprofit organization with over 650 college and university members in the U.S. and abroad, IIE has provided information on educational exchange to higher education and the public for 75 years.

USIA Fulbright Program

The Institute assists the U.S. Information Agency (USIA) in the conduct of the graduate Fulbright Program for both U.S. and foreign students at the predoctoral level.

U.S. students enrolled in a U.S. college or university must apply through a campus Fulbright Program Adviser. U.S. citizens not formally enrolled in a higher educational institution may request applicant information on USIA Fulbright Program grants from IIE's U.S. Student Programs Office.

Foreign nationals who wish to apply for financial assistance through the Fulbright Program to study in the United States must apply through the binational Fulbright Commission or designated U.S. diplomatic post in their home nation. IIE cannot accept applications from foreign nationals for the USIA Fulbright Program.

Program Administration

IIE manages 200 programs which benefit approximately 10,000 men and women from nearly 150 nations each year. The Institute is an independent nonprofit agency. It organizes international projects at the request of sponsors such as the U.S. Information Agency, U.S. Agency for International Development, foundations, corporations, universities, foreign governments and international organizations.

Purposes and Participants

IIE administers international education, training and research activities to fulfill goals developed in consultation with its sponsor organizations. Purposes can vary from the institutional development of a university in an emerging nation to multinational corporate staff development, from short-term training to long-term research on world food needs. Half of those assisted are foreign students pursuing U.S. graduate degrees. The Institute also assists large numbers of U.S. students and U.S. and foreign senior scholars, scientists, artists, corporate executives and community leaders each year.

Services to Higher Education and the Community

IIE provides educational advising services worldwide that assist 200,000 individuals annually. IIE publications are standard guides to international study. IIE research reports provide a substantive basis for policy choices in the field of international exchange.

U.S. Offices

U.S. offices are located in New York, the Institute's central office; Washington, DC; Chicago, Denver, Houston and San Francisco. Students and educators visiting New York City are encouraged to make use of the IIE International Education Information Center in planning international study. The center is located at IIE headquarters at 809 United Nations Plaza, and is open Tuesday through Thursday from 11 to 4 except for major holidays. The center cannot provide research assistance by phone or letter.

Overseas Offices

IIE overseas offices are located in Bangkok, Thailand; Hong Kong; Mexico City, Mexico; Budapest, Hungary; and Moscow, Russia. In Indonesia, IIE is represented by the International Education Foundation in Jakarta.

IIE Study-Abroad Books

The Institute of International Education (IIE) has published guides to study abroad for over 40 years. IIE's two companion volumes, Academic Year Abroad and Vacation Study Abroad, are the only comprehensive, annually-updated reference directories to international study for U.S. students.

Information contained in these two books is based on a survey conducted in the summer of each year. Surveys for the 1995/96 edition of the IIE books were sent during the summer of 1994. The surveys were mailed to 2,000 organizational sponsors of programs listed in the 1994/95 edition, and to all organizations that wrote to the IIE study-abroad editor requesting to be listed.

U.S. colleges and universities—over 650 of which are IIE Educational Associate member institutions—have traditionally been highly responsive to the Institute's surveys for Academic Year Abroad and Vacation Study Abroad, as have many other organizations that offer international study opportunities to U.S. nationals. Given this cooperation, the books are as comprehensive as IIE can make them.

IIE tries to make the information contained in the two books accurate and useful. Bear in mind, however, that information-gathering takes place long before these books are published—often before program arrangements are final. For this reason, it is a good idea to use the IIE books only as general resources for locating programs of interest. Final and full information on any program must be obtained directly from the program sponsor.

Criteria for Inclusion

The IIE books provide information about postsecondary study-abroad programs open to U.S. citizens who are undergraduate, graduate or postgraduate students; adult or continuing education students; or professionals in business, education, health professions, the law and other professional fields. The large majority of programs are intended for undergraduates, but IIE actively seeks information about international programs of interest to other categories of learners.

Most programs listed in these books are designed especially for U.S. students. However, a substantial minority of programs are more broadly international. For example, the IIE books list the international student programs of many foreign universities. These programs are open to students from all nations who can meet the eligibility requirements, not just students from the United States.

All programs must take place outside the 50 United States. Programs sited in U.S. territories and possessions are eligible for inclusion.

Academic Year Abroad and Vacation Study Abroad describe programs that range from one week to one calendar year in length. Further information on the duration of programs listed in each of the books is provided below.

Program sponsors are U.S. accredited colleges and universities, which sponsor the majority of programs in both books; foreign universities, language schools, educational associations, binational agencies and other organizations.

Many programs offer academic credit that may be used in partial fulfillment of requirements for an academic degree. It is usually not possible to complete all course requirements for an academic degree in the period of time covered by the programs in these books, nor is that their purpose.

Academic Year Abroad

Academic Year Abroad offers information on study-abroad programs that take place during the academic year (September through June), and that are at least one academic quarter in length (usually 8 to 10 weeks).

Of more than 2,200 programs listed in the current edition, some 75 percent are sponsored by U.S. accredited colleges and universities. Almost 500 programs are offered by institutions without U.S. accreditation: foreign universities and institutes, adult education centers and other U.S. and foreign organizations.

Vacation Study Abroad

Vacation Study Abroad provides information on summer programs of any length from one week to several months—and on short courses of varying lengths in the fall, winter or spring. Some 60 percent of programs are sponsored by U.S. accredited colleges and universities.

In addition to U.S. higher education-sponsored programs, Vacation Study Abroad describes offerings of many foreign universities, language schools and other organizations. Language school programs often allow participation for lengths of time that vary from one week to several months. Vacation Study Abroad also contains many programs that combine study with extensive travel over short periods of time, or that focus on topics of broad interest, and therefore are especially appealing to adults.

How to Use This Book

The information contained in this book—complemented by the guidance of an experienced study-abroad adviser if you are currently enrolled at a college or university—can help you plan what may be one of the most rewarding experiences of your life.

This section explains the overall organization of the book, how individual program entries are organized, and the terms used in the program descriptions. A list of abbreviations used in entries is also provided.

Overall Organization

Program entries are organized first by geographical region: Africa South of the Sahara, Asia and Oceania, Eastern Europe, Western Europe, the Middle East and the Western Hemisphere. Each world region is subdivided alphabetically by country and then by city. Within each city section, program entries are alphabetized by name of sponsoring organization.

In addition to specific country and city listings, there is a "Worldwide" section for programs that are active in more than one world region. Similarly, there are "More Than One Country" listings at the beginning of each regional section, and "More Than One City" listings at the front of each country. Remember to consult these sections in addition to listings for specific cities and countries.

The book also provides useful information in its introduction and its indexes. The section you are now using provides specific information on how to use program descriptions to identify programs of interest to you. The following section, "Planning for Study Abroad," offers overall guidance on the steps students should follow in organizing a productive study-abroad experience.

Indexes are:

■ Sponsoring Institutions

This is an alphabetical index to all U.S. and foreign colleges, universities, consortia and other organizations that sponsor study-abroad programs described in this book.

■ Consortia

A consortium in this book is a group of colleges and universities that jointly offers study-abroad programs. The index lists each consortium's member institutions.

■ Fields of Study

Programs are indexed by field of study and by country.

■ Special Options

This index is a guide to programs open to students other than undergraduates, e.g., precollege students, graduate students, adults, teachers; and to programs that offer special opportunities, e.g., internships, independent study, study tours.

■ Cost Ranges

This is an index to programs available at varying levels of cost.

■ Duration

In Vacation Study Abroad, which contains entries on programs of widely varying length, there is also an index of programs by duration in weeks. Academic Year Abroad does not have this index, because the overwhelming number of programs of semester or academic year length would make a duration index less useful.

Sample Entry

The sample entry describes a program that does not exist. In fact, the program entry could not exist, because it offers information under virtually all headings available as options in our computer database. No study-abroad program offers quite that many options, although a few come close. The advantage of this mythical program is that it allows us to provide an example of the many different kinds of useful data you may encounter in using this book, and to explain what they all mean.

Major headings are printed in boldface. Subheads under the major headings are printed in italic type. The paragraphs below explain the terms used under each major heading in a program description, using the sample entry as an example.

Program Sponsor and Name

EXEMPLARY STATE UNIVERSITY
Japanese Business and Civilization Program

Each entry begins with its program number, followed by the sponsor name and program title.

Programs are numbered in consecutive order throughout the book. All indexes are to the program number, rather than to the page number on which the program entry appears.

Name of sponsor institution is the second item of information to appear. All entries are indexed by sponsor in Index I: Sponsoring Institutions. Entries may list up to three cosponsors. In some cases, a consortium (group of colleges and universities) cosponsors a program. If there are more than three colleges and universities in the consortium, the sponsor name used in the entry and in Index I is the consortium name.

Consortium-sponsored programs are also indexed by consortium name in Index II: Consortia, which provides lists of all member colleges and universities in each consortium. In consortia program entries, the Contact heading refers the user to the index for the consortium's membership, using the standard phrase, "See Index II for members."

Site

Site: Japan: Kyoto Host inst: Kyoto Mgmt Inst

The country and city in which the program takes place are provided first under the Site: heading.

Name of host institution is next. The host institution is the school or organization that provides the premises and facilities for classes connected with the program, typically through a contract or other agreement with the sponsor. The sponsor, not the host institution, is the organization with legal, financial and administrative responsibility for the program. The host institution may provide staff and services to the sponsor in addition to the use of its facilities.

Dates

Dates: Aug-Dec or Jan-May or Jun-Jul

Exact dates are stated if provided by the program sponsor. Remember that final program dates are often not available at the time our survey is conducted, many months before the program actually begins. For current information, contact the sponsor.

Subjects

Subjects: Banking, Business/management, Civilization/culture, Economics, Graphic Arts/design, Japanese language (int/adv), Japanese studies

Up to fifteen fields of study offered by the program are listed here. Some programs provide opportunities in more than fifteen fields of study, e.g., the international student program of a foreign university. In these cases, "Full curriculum" appears as the first subject listing, to indicate the availability of a wide range of courses. Contact the sponsor for a course catalog to learn about the full range of fields of study.

Many study-abroad programs offer opportunities to learn foreign languages. When sponsors provide the information, program entries indicate the proficiency level of language courses offered: beginning, intermediate and/or advanced (beg/int/adv).

Consult Index III: Fields of Study for assistance in locating programs in a specific field. Contact the program sponsor for more detailed course information.

Eligibility

Eligibility: Own students preferred. Level: jrs, srs, grads, adults, teachers, professionals, precoll Requires: 3.00 GPA, previous study in field, 2 yrs coll Japanese Age: min 18, max 81, avg 22

If a program restricts eligibility, the phrase "own students only," or a similar phrase defining the restriction, e.g., "own students preferred," "state residents only," will be highlighted in bold italics. A program that does not include a highlighted restriction is open to applicants at the appropriate academic levels from other institutions.

The IIE books include programs that colleges and universities limit to their own students, or otherwise restrict, because many students first learn of their own institution's programs from these books. Also, study-abroad advisers find it useful to know about the programs of other colleges and universities, and can occasionally arrange access to another institution's program as a special case. For these and other reasons, IIE tries to make its study-abroad reference books as complete as possible.

Level: lists the academic levels that may enroll in the program. Most programs are intended primarily for undergraduates, and the abbreviations used for the four undergraduate levels are: fresh, sophs, jrs, srs, for freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors. Many programs are also open to graduate students (grads), adult learners, precollege students (precoll), teachers and professionals. "Adults" usually refers to high school graduates who are at least 18 years of age, are often older than the typical undergraduate and are not currently enrolled in a degree program at a U.S. college. "Precollege" generally means high school graduates who have not yet entered college. "Professionals" are those actively working in a field as a career who may wish to improve their skills by international study, e.g., health professionals studying the public health systems of other nations.

Adult learners often wish to study abroad as a way to productively combine travel and learning. Precollege students may want overseas experience before they begin their undergraduate education. Teachers and professionals enhance their qualifications through international study. To help graduate students, adult learners, precollege students, teachers and professionals find the programs accessible to them, use Index IV: Special Options.

The Requires: subheading lists eligibility requirements, which most typically are a minimum Grade Point Average (GPA), previous study in the field or a minimum level of language proficiency or other course prerequisite, e.g., 2 yrs coll Japanese. Since space considerations do not allow us to describe requirements in complete detail, it is a good idea to ask the program sponsor for full information.

Some programs have minimum (min) or maximum (max) age limits. Others provide an average (avg) student age as an indication of the typical age/academic level of enrolled students.

Credit

Credit: Undergrad: 14-15 Grad: 10-12 Doc: transcript, certificate, diploma, degree

Availability of academic credit is indicated. If a unit other than semester hours is used by the program sponsor to define credit, it is specified. Undergraduate credits are listed first, then graduate credits.

Most foreign institutions do not use the U.S. system of academic credit and, thus, do not actually grant credit for successful completion of courses. Many of them are familiar with U.S. credit requirements, however, and have indicated the number of credits generally accepted by U.S. colleges for the program or course listed.

Foreign schools and other organizations sometimes arrange to transfer credit through an accredited U.S. college. When programs offer the transfer credit option, the name of the U.S. school granting transfer credit is given.

The document awarded for successful completion of the program is listed after the subhead Doc:.

Remember that the award of credit by your home institution is never automatic. It must be arranged in advance. Consult your academic or study-abroad adviser about receiving academic credit before you enroll in a program.

Instruction

Instruction: In: English, Japanese Format: art studio, directed field study, independent study, internship, lab, lang study, lecture, practical training, seminar, student teaching, study tour, tutorial, volunteer/svc Students: mainly US

Language of instruction appears first under this heading. Where more than one language is used in teaching classes, consult the program sponsor for exact information. Foreign language courses are usually taught in the language being studied. Other courses may be taught in English or the language of the host country. For courses taught exclusively in a foreign language, be sure to determine in advance whether your level of fluency is sufficient.

Entries then indicate Format: which may be lab, language study (lang study), lectures, seminars, tutorials—or such special options as art studio, internship, independent study, practical training, student teaching, study tour, directed field study, volunteer/svc (voluntary service projects). Special options such as these are indexed in Index IV.

The final subhead, Students:, provides information on class composition. Some programs are arranged especially for U.S. students (mainly US). Others mix U.S. students with other foreign students (international classes, abbreviated as "intl"). Still others integrate U.S. students into classes taken mainly by local students to provide greater exposure to the host country culture (mainly host country). Many programs offer a variety of class experiences to U.S. students. For example, U.S. students may take some classes as a group and be integrated with host country students for other classes (an option indicated as "US & host country.") Other combinations that occur: intl & host country, US & intl.

Costs

Costs: $10,000 (1994/95) incl tuition, housing, all meals, intl airfare, insurance, fees, excursions, books/materials Nonrefundable fee

We have asked sponsors to provide a package amount for participation in the full program. This information is followed by a list of items the program fee includes: tuition, housing, all meals (where three meals per day are usually provided), some meals (fewer than three per day), international airfare (between the U.S. and the program site), health/ accident insurance, fees connected with participation in the program, excursions, books and materials, railpasses and other items.

If the program sponsor requires a nonrefundable application fee, the requirement is indicated by the words "Nonrefundable fee."

A cost amount followed by the year in parentheses indicates that fees were applicable for that year. Since IIE conducts research for this book well in advance of actual program dates, costs for the year in question are sometimes not yet finally established at the time sponsors provide information. In such cases, sponsors typically provide information on their current fees instead. In either case, the figure given may require clarification or adjustment. Many factors can affect costs, e.g., fluctuations in exchange rates, a change in the mix of services provided for the program fee, etc. Always contact the sponsor directly for the most current information in this important area.

Index V: Cost Ranges provides guidance to programs at varying levels of cost.

Housing

Housing: Arr by pgm: residence halls with local students, apts, homestay, pensions, hotels, hostels

Most programs provide housing for members of the group. Entries indicate first who arranges housing—the sponsor ("Arr by pgm"=Arranged by program) or the student ("Arr by student"= Arranged by student), and second, what types of housing are available: residence halls, apartments, homestays (living with a family in a private home), pensions, hotels or other accommodations.

Deadline

Deadline: Feb 1 for fall; Oct 1 for spring

In most cases, deadlines are for the receipt of completed applications with all necessary supporting material: transcripts, recommendations, deposits, etc. Find out well in advance what application material is needed.

Some programs will admit students after the deadline is past, but usually only when a program has not filled all allotted places. It is best not to count on luck. Apply early!

If there is a financial aid deadline for students applying for scholarships offered by the program, it will be indicated here.

All program descriptions indicate whether an accredited U.S. college or university sponsors the program. This information is especially important for those students who need academic credit for their study abroad.

The year in which the program began is provided next, followed by the name of any organization cooperating with the sponsor in offering the program.

Additional information includes the availability of orientation (Orient:) in the U.S. and/or abroad. Many programs offer activities such as excursions, field trips, program-related travel (pgm travel), cultural events and sports. An excursion or field trip is usually local and does not involve extended time away from the program site. In contrast, program travel may last up to one month or more and involve extensive distances and lectures or research on distant sites.

The Misc: (miscellaneous) subheading is used for information that does not fit other headings, but is nonetheless significant. The phrase "May contact former participants" indicates that the sponsor, if requested, will facilitate contact with a former student—by mail, phone or in person. Some sponsors routinely invite former students to their orientation sessions. Make every effort to attend these sessions. The information you acquire from other students can be valuable in selecting the right program and preparing for a rewarding experience abroad.

If financial aid other than loans is available to program participants, the Financial aid: subheading will specify either "scholarships" or "work-study."

The primary contact's mailing address for information and applications is listed first, with a toll-free phone number, if available; other phone and fax numbers. A second or third contact may also be listed, often in cases in which two or three colleges cosponsor a program, or in which a foreign school has both a U.S. representative and a foreign admissions office.

Programs sponsored by consortia typically indicate the administering school as the primary contact, preceded in the program description by a reference to "See Index II for members." Index II: Consortia lists all member colleges and universities of a given consortium. The usual rule in this situation is that students at member schools apply to their campus study-abroad office, while students at nonmember schools should contact the main consortium office or the administering school.

Important Notice

The Institute of International Education does not attempt to review or evaluate programs listed in this book. Inclusion of a program does not imply IIE recommendation, nor does omission imply IIE disapproval. Program evaluations and additional information must be requested directly from the program sponsor, NOT from IIE.

Planning for Study Abroad

Study abroad can be an extraordinary adventure in which the educational experiences do not start or stop at the classroom door, or even at the edge of the campus. In contrast to the relatively sheltered life found at many U.S. colleges, study in a foreign setting exposes the student to a whole gamut of new cultural experiences—experiences that open up fresh perspectives on international political and economic issues, interpersonal relationships and ultimate career choices.

Even an adventure, however, benefits from planning. How well you achieve your immediate personal and academic objectives, as well as your long-range career goals, depends heavily on choosing the right country, institution and program. Because of the complex choices to be made, planning should begin a full year before you expect to depart.

Researching the Options

The range of study-abroad programs available is considerable. Many programs focus on specific academic disciplines, while others feature both academic and language study. A number of programs combine independent study or internships with traditional coursework.

Your choice of program should be determined by a realistic assessment of your academic preparation and objectives. If you are currently enrolled at a U.S. college or university, be sure to consult with either a study-abroad or Fulbright Program adviser, or a faculty member knowledgeable about foreign study programs. The adviser can help determine whether the programs you are considering will mesh with your educational goals—and whether you will receive academic credit for them.

It remains your responsibility, however, to research the alternatives thoroughly: contact the designated persons or departments to request program literature, ask specific questions and obtain and review background information on the country you plan to visit. Get in touch with previous participants in programs that interest you. Meet with students from other countries to learn what it is like to be a foreign student. Allow plenty of time for this research—and expect to discover exciting educational possibilities.

Language Proficiency

Foreign language proficiency is perhaps the single most important factor in choosing where to study. Be completely realistic about your level of competency. Holding a simple conversation or ordering a meal in another language is one thing; following a complicated lecture and reading scholarly books is something else entirely.

U.S. college-sponsored programs may be conducted in cooperation with a foreign institution or may be taught by foreign faculty. In such cases, the language of instruction is typically the language of the host country. The minimum requirement for most U.S.-sponsored programs is two years of college-level language study or the equivalent.

Study abroad offers an incomparable opportunity to learn the language and culture of another country. This book provides information on language and culture/civilization programs available worldwide.

Geographic Location

Geographic setting may be as important as academic characteristics in determining whether a program is appropriate for you. Large cities offer excellent cultural opportunities but are expensive and impersonal. Small towns offer more contact with local residents and a traditional way of life, but some students find the provincial lifestyle too limiting.

No foreign study program can be a guaranteed perfect choice. Even when your needs are well matched to the program, you may suffer periods of loneliness and disorientation simply because of the unfamiliar environment. Remember that one of the most important lessons to be learned from time spent abroad is flexibility—and a willingness to go on enjoying and learning even when confronting unexpected circumstances.

The Third World

Study in the Third World can be especially meaningful for a variety of reasons. The fact that nearly three-quarters of the world's population live in these nations is bound to have a significant effect on the course of history. From an economic standpoint, it is worth noting that U.S. trade with Third World countries now approaches 40 percent of all U.S. imports and exports. In today's economically interdependent world, knowledge of Third World nations may prove to be a tremendous career asset.

In addition, the cultures of the Third World countries pose a sharp contrast to that of the United States. They effectively challenge our customary assumptions about our own society and values and provide a unique perspective on our larger world role.

One legacy of colonialism in the Third World is that the language of instruction is often English, Spanish or French rather than the native tongue. This generalization does not apply, however, to countries like China, which has an extensive scientific and technical literature of its own, and which draws large numbers of students to study its literature, languages and cultures.

Disabled Students

Many educational institutions provide facilities for the handicapped. The extent to which these students can be accommodated, however, depends on the nature of their disabilities and the subject to be studied. Because disabled students may require special educational aids or services, they should discuss their needs with the program sponsors and investigate the possibility of obtaining supplementary funds to cover the costs of services required.

Information for the handicapped traveler is available from the U.S. branch of Mobility International (MIUSA), which publishes a newsletter and several booklets. For full details, write to MIUSA. PO Box 3551, Eugene, OR 97403.

Adult Learners

While most study-abroad programs are organized with the needs of college students in mind, a significant number admit adults with a personal or professional interest in study overseas. This is particularly true of summer and short-term programs, many of which are sponsored by adult or continuing education schools. The listings in IIE's study-abroad guides indicate whether a program admits adults and/or professionals. Even when the entry indicates that the program is geared to the undergraduate or graduate level, it may be worthwhile to contact the sponsor to see if adults can be admitted as auditors.

Adults over the age of 60 may be interested in the international programs of Elderhostel, which combine the best traditions of education and hosteling for those of retirement age. For information, write to Elderhostel, 75 Federal Street, 3rd Floor, Boston, MA 02110-1941.

The Interhostel program of the University of New Hampshire is designed for those age 50 and over. For details, write to Interhostel, Division of Continuing Education, University of New Hampshire, 6 Garrison Avenue, Durham, NH 03824-3529.

Educational Choices

Before enrolling in a foreign study program, you must determine its effect on your degree and graduation requirements. Your advisers can help evaluate study abroad in relation to your academic needs and may assist in arranging credit.

U.S. college-sponsored programs generally award credit. Never assume, however, that credit will be granted automatically, or that you can wait until you complete the program to establish credit. Each school makes its own rules regarding transferable credits, and, if the program you select is not sponsored by your home institution, academic credit may not be accepted by it.

Once a proposed study program is approved by your adviser—and prior to departing from the United States—follow your school's specific procedure to ensure receipt of credit. It is strongly recommended that you secure a written document confirming that credit will be awarded. At some colleges or universities this may be done through the study-abroad office. At others, it will be handled by the admissions office or registrar. If there is no study-abroad adviser, your academic adviser can provide information.

Many U.S. colleges and universities allow students planning to study abroad to preregister for courses to be taken upon their return. This option should also be discussed with your study-abroad adviser prior to departure.

Types of Study-Abroad Programs

Most undergraduates enroll in programs sponsored by their own or other U.S. colleges. One advantage of U.S. college-sponsored programs is that they allow students to study in a foreign environment while remaining within a U.S. academic framework. Even where much of the actual coursework is taken at a foreign university, academic credit is arranged through the sponsoring U.S. institution. In addition, special courses in the language and culture of the foreign country may be provided, and language requirements may be relaxed. Finally, the sponsoring college usually either provides or helps arrange nonacademic essentials, such as housing and round-trip transportation.

Most programs fall into one of these categories:

1. Study in a foreign institution combined with courses arranged for the group by the sponsoring U.S. institution.

These programs usually require some knowledge of the language of the country. Nonetheless, special university courses for U.S. or other foreign students generally have less exacting language requirements than regular university courses. And some programs offer a choice of foreign institutions, depending on the level of the student's language skills.

One benefit of this type of program is that it lets you study at a foreign institution while meeting requirements for your U.S. degree. It also offers readily available help with any difficulties you may encounter in the foreign courses.

2. The fully integrated program at a foreign university or other college-level institution.

Students enroll in regular academic courses in the foreign institution, where fluency in the language of instruction is expected. Students must be able to follow lectures and take examinations along with natives of the country. These programs can be very exciting and challenging for students who qualify.

Since students enrolled in these programs will not have the opportunity to take any U.S. courses overseas, they must be sure to schedule required coursework at their home campuses.

3. The "island" program, in which all courses are arranged for the U.S. group and taught by faculty members of the sponsoring U.S. school or by foreign faculty engaged specifically for the program.

Some of these programs offer intensive language study for language majors. More often, however, these programs are conducted largely in English. In many areas of the world, they offer the only opportunity for meaningful study for students without a good command of a foreign language.

An advantage of this type of program is that the sponsoring U.S. institution has as much control over the nature and quality of instruction as it has at home. The chief disadvantage is that U.S. students are isolated from the foreign academic milieu and may find themselves isolated socially as well.

A few programs offer only independent study opportunities, in which qualified students carry out preapproved research projects abroad and receive credit from their home institutions. In others, U.S. students enroll in foreign universities and receive credit from their own schools for coursework abroad. Independent study arrangements like these are made on an individual basis by the students and their schools.

Sponsorship by Consortia

Many of the programs listed in IIE's study-abroad guides are sponsored cooperatively by groups of U.S. colleges or consortia. Some are administered through central consortium offices, others by the participating schools which rotate administrative duties among themselves.

It is unlikely to make any real difference to the student whether a program is offered by one school or by a consortium. The chief advantage of cosponsorship is that a consortium may be able to offer specialized programs that individual schools find difficult to provide. See Index II for lists of consortia and their member schools.

Direct Enrollment

It is also possible to enroll directly in many foreign universities. Direct enrollment is an option more often chosen by graduate students than by undergraduates, both because graduate students are more likely to be able to profit from specialized study programs abroad, and because many foreign universities require that new U.S. students already possess a bachelor's degree.

To enroll directly in a foreign university, look into the laws affecting higher education in the country where you plan to study. Some countries have quotas for the number of international students at their universities and restrictions on the numbers of foreign students admitted to particular fields, such as medicine, dentistry, the sciences and law. Because such restrictions may change from year to year, investigate current regulations early in the planning process.

Since admission policies vary from country to country and institution to institution, it is advisable to write directly to institutions you are interested in for specific information on their policies, requirements, costs and facilities. Addresses of foreign institutions can be found in World of Learning or the International Handbook of Universities, reference directories on higher education worldwide that can be found in many U.S. college and university libraries. To ensure a response, enclose an International Reply coupon (available from any Post Office) with your inquiry.

Remember that, since educational systems vary, no foreign degree is exactly equivalent to a U.S. degree. If you are interested in graduate studies abroad, be sure to conduct extensive research on the educational systems of the countries which interest you. Study-abroad advisers can be invaluable in helping you acquire the information you need to make a decision.

Another useful source of information is the World Education Series, published by the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers (AACRAO). Although designed for college admissions officers who need to evaluate foreign academic credentials, these publications provide an overview of each country's educational system. Write AACRAO, One DuPont Circle, Washington, DC 20038, for a complete list of titles.

Vacation Study Programs

A study program abroad is a highly productive way to spend a vacation, whether from school or work. Many colleges, language schools and other organizations offer a variety of summer and short-term programs that provide serious academic study for college students, heritage courses for adults interested in finding their roots, technical programs for professionals and a wide range of courses for those who simply want to expand their horizons.

IIE's Vacation Study Abroad lists over 1,600 such programs, most of which take place during the summer. Recognizing that the desire to learn knows no age or season, however, many organizations now offer study tours and other programs throughout the year.

Internships

Many foreign study programs feature internships designed to provide hands-on experience in a particular field, with placements at museums, schools, government offices, international organizations, etc. Most are developed in close consultation with faculty advisers and are tailored to suit the special needs of the student. An internship's success depends almost entirely on the initiative and creativity of the student.

Because of the growing popularity of internship programs and the special arrangements they involve, you must apply for a position and begin making arrangements well in advance. As with other types of programs, don't forget to clarify issues of costs, credit, salary and housing. Use Index IV: Special Options in this book to locate internship listings.

Voluntary Service Projects

International service projects offer opportunities to young people from all over the world to live and work together with local people in community development. Usually no special skills are required. Many projects take place during the summer for short periods, but it is also possible to participate in semester or academic year programs for which academic credit can be arranged. There is no pay, but volunteers generally receive room and board. Good sources of information on volunteer service are the Council on International Educational Exchange and the Partnership for Service-Learning. Contact CIEE International Workcamps, 205 East 42nd Street, New York, NY 10017, and Partnership for Service-Learning, 815 Second Avenue, Suite 315, New York, NY 10017.

Finances

Establish a budget to help determine which programs meet both your academic needs and financial capacity. Package fees for programs sponsored by U.S. colleges generally include transportation to and from the United States, tuition, fees, room and board and program-related travel. Other major items are books, local transportation and health and accident insurance.

Be especially careful to find out what program package fees do not cover. Admissions to cultural sites and events, gifts, optional travel, bank charges for exchanging money and miscellaneous personal expenses are rarely included and can add up to a considerable sum. Always set aside some money for unexpected contingencies; they invariably occur.

The program costs listed in this book should always be viewed as approximate: they were submitted to IIE some 12 to 18 months prior to the actual program dates. Inflation and fluctuations in exchange rates over this period of time may force significant changes in these figures. Again, it is your responsibility to confirm program costs by contacting the sponsor directly.

Large amounts of cash should not be carried abroad. Traveler's checks are available in U.S. dollars and major foreign currencies. International charge cards and bank credit cards can also be used to avoid carrying large amounts of cash. In some countries, hard currency restrictions limit the amount of foreign currency which can be changed back into U.S. dollars, particularly if the original exchange receipts have been misplaced. Do not under any circumstances exchange money on the black market.

Scholarships

At present, most financial assistance available for study abroad is for graduate and postgraduate study. Undergraduates with regular university scholarships, however, are generally allowed to use them for their own school's overseas programs. Your study-abroad adviser, financial aid officer or bursar can advise you on the possibility of using federal and state aid for foreign study.

The Institute of International Education maintains a reference library with extensive scholarship and grant information at its Information Center at 809 United Nations Plaza in New York City. Information is available upon a personal visit to the Center—not by mail or telephone.

Work Abroad

The practice of working one's way through college is not common overseas, although some study programs include nonpaid work experience. Part-time work-study and trainee positions, which pay a small salary, are occasionally available, but cannot be relied upon to cover the bulk of your expenses overseas.

Summer work programs geared towards students, trainees and volunteers characteristically offer room and board rather than a salary. Archaeological excavations, for example, often fall into this category.

Foreign labor laws are often highly restrictive. Be sure to investigate them thoroughly if you plan to seek work abroad—and don't plan to rely on work in the private sector to pay your way.

The Council on International Educational Exchange has organized a work abroad program with the cooperation of several nations. Academic credit is sometimes available through special arrangement. For information, contact CIEE Work Abroad, 205 East 42nd Street, New York, NY 10017.

Travel and Living

After selecting a study program, it is time to prepare for life in a foreign country. Your study-abroad experience will have greater personal value if you take an active role in learning about the language, history and culture of the country, as well as current social and political conditions.

Attend any orientation sessions offered by your program sponsor. The history and culture of the host country are usually reviewed in some detail. There may also be language exams and assigned readings. And you may have the opportunity to ask questions about issues that confuse you before they present real problems.

Books, periodicals, plays, films and museum exhibits can provide additional information, as will the embassy, consulate or tourist office of the country in which you plan to study.

People encountered abroad are frequently curious about the United States. As a consequence, you can expect to be hit with a barrage of questions about U.S. history, economics, culture, government policies and current events. To be forewarned is to be forearmed!

Laws and Customs

Orientation sessions usually review the more important laws and customs students must comply with. These are not empty warnings. One of the biggest mistakes you can make is to assume that behavior and actions acceptable in the United States are appropriate everywhere, or that other countries will excuse inappropriate or illegal acts simply because you are a foreigner.

In many countries, for example, local cultural values dictate that certain parts of the body be covered, particularly in sacred places. Flouting such customs is perceived as a deliberate affront. In such situations, verbal protestations can escalate into threats or physical assaults. This is particularly true if the U.S. student is thought to be indifferent to the initial objections.

It is important to realize that civil rights issues are simply not involved. U.S. notions regarding freedom of speech and expression have no parallel in many countries. Even where the potential for violence is not an issue, students should realize that inappropriate behavior will tend to alienate them from the local populace.

Close adherence to the laws of the country in which you are living or traveling is even more important. It is unwise to rationalize that you are committing only a minor infraction when exchanging money on the black market or making purchases for foreign friends in hard currency shops that are off-limits for natives. Breaking the law—even a repressive, irrational or antiquated one—is still breaking the law and can lead to severe penalties. At the very least, you can expect to be expelled from the program and deported from the country. U.S. programs are there at the sufferance of their hosts, and sponsors will not risk their programs to protect law-breaking students. Do not expect special intervention from U.S. consulates, either.

Narcotics laws are strictly enforced overseas, particularly when the offenders are foreigners. Harsh sentences, including life imprisonment or death, are not unknown, even in countries where natives may break such laws with impunity.

Warnings aside, there are few pleasures to compare with the experience of forming friendships with people who have spent their entire lives in a different milieu and who can communicate whole new perspectives on the most ordinary of life's experiences. Be sensitive rather than brash, and discover what life is like for others on this planet.

Accommodations

Student housing is difficult to find almost everywhere. Dormitory space is often so limited that many foreign universities have strict quotas for the number of rooms allotted to international students. Generally, U.S. students live in apartments, pensions, student hostels or with families. Be sure to find out whose responsibility it is to make housing arrangements. Check with the program sponsors to see what arrangements they have made, and investigate the available alternatives. And remember to confirm all housing arrangements well ahead of departure.

Passports, Visas and Vaccinations

Valid passports are required for travel abroad. You may apply in person to a passport agent at U.S. Department of State agencies in Boston, Chicago, Honolulu, Houston, Los Angeles, Miami, New Orleans, New York City, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Seattle, Stamford (Connecticut) or Washington, DC. Passports are also issued through selected post offices, or by clerks of any federal court or state court of records. Proof of U.S. citizenship (birth certificate, naturalization certificate, or previous U.S. passport), two recent photographs (2" x 2") and current identification with a personal signature and photograph or physical description (such as a driver's license) are required.

For citizens 18 years or older, a passport valid for ten years costs $65. A five-year passport for citizens under age 18 is $40. You must appear in person if you are applying for the first time, are renewing a passport issued over eight years ago or were younger than 18 when your last passport was issued. Apply early: processing an application takes four to six weeks—longer during the peak travel season.

A visa is written permission to visit a country granted by the government of that country. Visa requirements vary from country to country and are fully described in Visa Requirements of Foreign Governments (Publication M-264) available at any passport agency or by writing to Office of Passport Services, Room 386, 1425 K Street NW, Washington, DC 20524.

Anyone planning to study in a country for an extended period of time may need to get a special student visa. Information relating to all visas may be obtained from the nearest embassy or consulate of the country concerned. Many visa applications require that you submit passport-type photographs to be kept on file or incorporated into the visa itself. It is always wise to obtain extra prints of your passport photographs for such purposes.

AIDS testing or vaccination certificates for inoculation against yellow fever or cholera are required by some countries. Check current regulations with your local public health department.

Medical Insurance and Other Health Concerns

The importance of having adequate insurance when visiting another country cannot be overestimated. Before leaving the United States, check your medical and accident insurance policies to be sure they are valid while traveling overseas. If coverage does not extend to travel abroad, you may want to obtain supplemental medical and accident policies. Holders of the International Student Identity Card receive basic medical/accident insurance coverage for their travel outside the continental United States.

While it is easy to stay healthy abroad, in certain countries this requires taking some elementary precautions. Some countries, particularly those in tropical regions, have bacterial, fungal and parasitical diseases which can be difficult to cure. Do not hesitate to ask about these during orientation sessions, and take the advice seriously.

If you require prescription medicines, even intermittently, be aware that foreign drugs are not necessarily closely related to those standard in the United States. Drugs may be marketed under different names and may not be available in the strengths you desire. It is wise to bring an adequate supply of any medication you need. Label all bottles clearly and carry copies of the prescriptions to avoid problems with Customs. In the case of narcotic medicines, it may not be prudent to carry additional supplies because of possible Customs difficulties. Reasonable amounts of nonprescription drugs, such as aspirin and stomach remedies, can come in handy when staying in some of the more remote regions of the world.

Finally, if you wear prescription eyeglasses or contact lenses, bring an extra pair and your prescription. This is particularly important with contact lenses, because the specific type of lens you wear may not be available abroad.

Transportation

Many U.S.-sponsored programs include group transportation to and from the program site. In others, students make their own arrangements. A good place to begin researching your travel options is the government tourist office of the country you will travel to; it provides a variety of free travel literature.

Deregulation in the airline industry has resulted in a proliferation of discounted airfares. Shop carefully if you are looking for an inexpensive flight; the cheapest flight is not necessarily the one that best suits your needs. Fares that specify a return date should be looked at particularly carefully, as these may not allow the flexibility you need.

Aim to travel lightly, especially if you will be participating in a study-tour. You will have to carry whatever you bring, so restrict yourself to one or two moderate-sized bags and a small carry-on bag in which to keep valuables, passport and camera equipment. Insure your baggage and personal effects for the full period abroad. If you bring a camera, purchase a lead-lined film bag. Contrary to airport claims, some X-ray devices are ruinous to film.

Once abroad, railroads are often an economical and convenient way to travel. In Europe and Great Britain, Eurail and BritRail passes offer unlimited train travel at considerable savings to those who travel extensively. Eurailpasses are not valid in Britain but can be used on ferries between Italy and Greece, France and Ireland, and in Scandinavia. Rail passes are available from many travel agencies and must be purchased in the United States before your departure.

If you are considering renting a car, remember that in Britain, many Commonwealth countries and Japan, cars drive on the left-hand side of the road. Your U.S. driver's license is generally accepted abroad, but it may be necessary to supplement it with an International Driver's License, which provides a multilingual translation of the information on your U.S. license and is available from your local AAA office.

An excellent source of information about student travel is the Council on International Educational Exchange (CIEE). CIEE publishes the Student Travel Catalog (available free of charge), and offers the International Student Identity Card as well as a wide range of student travel services. The International Student ID entitles the bearer to numerous discounts on transportation, accommodations, museum entrance fees and more. Contact CIEE headquarters at 205 East 42nd Street, New York, NY 10017, or Council Travel offices in Amherst (MA), Ann Arbor (MI), Atlanta, Austin, Berkeley, Boston, Boulder (CO), Cambridge, Chicago, Columbus (OH), Dallas, Durham (NC), Evanston (IL), La Jolla (CA), Long Beach (CA), Los Angeles, Miami (FL), Milwaukee, Minneapolis, New Haven, New Orleans, Palo Alto, Philadelphia, Portland (OR), Providence, San Diego, San Francisco, Seattle, Sherman Oaks (CA), Tempe and Washington, DC.

IIE-Administered Programs

IIE administers U.S. student applications for the following study programs:

- Scuola Leonardo da Vinci, Florence, Rome and Siena, Italy. Courses in Italian language, culture, history and literature; crafts; and special courses for teachers of Italian.
- Studio Art Centers International, Florence, Italy; and London, England. 4 to 16-week courses in studio arts and culture.

For applications and information, write to the U.S. Student Programs Division, Institute of International Education, 809 United Nations Plaza, New York, NY 10017-3580.

The late Lily von Klemperer trained a generation of study-abroad advisers as one of the most active members of NAFSA: Association of International Educators. Before and after her retirement from IIE, she brought a strong concern for ethics to her work. The following article, first printed in a NAFSA newsletter of the mid-1970's, has been reprinted frequently ever since.

How to Read Study-Abroad Literature

By Lily von Klemperer

This is a sample advertisement for a summer program abroad:

TWA
Spend Your Summer in Sunny Spain
Live in a Medieval Castle
Learn Spanish at a Famous University
College Credit Available
Outstanding Faculty
International Student Body
Limited Enrollment—All Ages Eligible
Inclusive Charge
Write for Fully Illustrated Brochure
Director of Admissions
PO Box 000, Grand Central Station
New York, NY 10017

This advertisement probably never existed in its entirety. Its components, however, appear in many advertisements, posters and brochures. Advertisements and posters may have to be somewhat flashy and overstated to catch the eye. Brochures, on the other hand, should be factual, realistic and totally honest.

Let us analyze the components of the sample ad, line by line, in order to remind ourselves (1) how to read, interpret and write descriptive literature on study programs abroad, and (2) what questions to ask ourselves and others before enrolling in a program.

TWA. If the advertisement or brochure is "crowned" by TWA, a travel agency or a similar commercial organization, while the name of the sponsoring US college or university appears in small print elsewhere, whose program is it? And who is responsible for the program's academic standards, if any?

Spend Your Summer in Sunny Spain. A pleasant prospect! But look at the prominence of this statement and ask what the real purpose of this program is: a summer in the sun—or a summer spent studying a foreign language and culture? How many hours will be spent in class and how many on the beach? What is the curriculum? Who teaches what, where and when?

Live in a Medieval Castle. How romantic! But where is that castle? Is it near that "famous university" or will you have to commute to classes each day? Are the rooms shared or single? Are study facilities available? Are the inexpensive eating places nearby?

If family living is suggested, is it a family that has experience with US students? Will they converse with you in the language you are studying? Is the housing offered close to the center of town and cultural events? Is there public transportation after 6 pm or do students have to rely on expensive taxis?

Learn Spanish at a Famous University. Why isn't the name of the host institution given? Foreign universities generally suspend regular operations during the summer months, when their facilities may be available to anyone willing to pay the rent. The "famous university" may not actually be involved in the curriculum at all. The ad may refer to courses arranged by the sponsoring organization or to a special program for foreigners, which may or may not be organized by the host institution.

Some ads refer to "accredited" institutions or programs. To check the US accreditation of a college or university, consult Accredited Institutions of Postsecondary Education, published annually by the American Council on Education for the Council on Postsecondary Accreditation. Information on foreign universities is available in The World of Learning (Europa Publications), the International Handbook of Universities (de Gruyter) and the Commonwealth Handbook of Universities Yearbook (Association of Commonwealth Universities).

College Credit Available. The crucial questions here are (1) who makes this college credit available? and (2) does the student's home institution accept credit offered by this program?

If receiving academic credit for your studies abroad is important to you, check the brochure to see if your school is listed as a participating institution or as a school that has accepted program credits in the past. Then consult your academic or study-abroad adviser before you enroll in the program to see whether the credits offered can be applied to your degree program.

Outstanding Faculty. Who are they? Where do they teach? What are their credentials? And, are they accessible to the students outside of class?

International Student Body. Look closely at the roster of students in the back of the brochure. Are they swelling the ranks of "international students" by listing the children of US parents residing abroad? Or will you in fact be mixing with bona fide representatives of other cultures?

Limited Enrollment—All Ages Eligible. Does the statement "limited enrollment" presuppose selectivity when all ages are eligible? How homogeneous is a program open to everybody, unless it includes classes specifically geared to the various academic levels?

It would be more helpful to know the type of student for whom the program is designed—his academic level, educational or professional background, motivation and goals.

Inclusive Charge. There are almost as many variations to this term as there are programs. Is there an estimate of total expenses? Read the small print. Find out exactly what is covered and, more importantly, what is NOT covered. For example, are there periods of time abroad NOT covered by the inclusive fee? Will you have to pay for transportation to and from classes each day?

Ask about refund policies: Is there a nonrefundable application fee? Will tuition and program fees be refunded if circumstances force you to drop out of the program?

Write for Fully Illustrated Brochure. Even organizers of high-quality programs love to publicize them with attractive photographs of breathtaking scenery, lively cafe scenes, marble columns and Gothic spires. Unless the brochure devotes equal space to academic facilities, however, one may well question whether there is any provision at all for serious study.

Director of Admissions. Is there a name of a responsible person or just a title—or not even that? If you search the "fully illustrated brochure" and find no board of advisers, no trustees listed—no names whatsoever—what conclusions would you reach?

PO Box 000, Grand Central Station. Is there a street address or just a postal number? Is there a phone number? How can one get hold of the program director in an emergency? And does a box number or street address in Ann Arbor necessarily imply University of Michigan sponsorship?

All these remarks—negative and positive—are a bid for honesty. Descriptive literature on foreign study should reflect the serious intent of the organizers. It should reflect quality, selectivity and effective academic control. A meaningful and solid program cannot accommodate all tastes, all needs, all levels of maturity. But whatever it is meant to represent should be stated clearly and honestly.

A WORLD OF DIFFERENCE

Service-Learning

PROGRAMS COMBINING ACADEMIC STUDY AND VOLUNTEER SERVICE

WHO SHOULD GO?

College students and recent graduates who like challenge and want to learn from the world.

Students from over 180 colleges and universities have participated, most for academic credit.

High school seniors and in-service professionals are invited to inquire.

WHAT WILL YOU DO?

Teach: children, teens, adults, job skills, literacy, and ESL.

Care for: the handicapped, the poor, the ill, the old, the young, the troubled.

Organize: recreation, community development, economic assistance, human rights and other projects.

Your service of 15-25 hours a week, supervised by professionals, will make a difference to people in need.

ACADEMIC CREDIT?

for a semester
9-12
for a summer

Formal academic study is structured to relate to the service and to the host culture.

The learning is directed by qualified professors of an accredited university in the host nation. An official transcript is issued by the host institution. Financial aid and student loans can apply.

WHERE?

Service-Learning opportunities include:

- Appalachia
- Ecuador
- England
- France
- India
- Israel
- Jamaica
- Mexico
- Philippines

KALAMAZOO COLLEGE STUDY ABROAD PROGRAMS IN AFRICA

KENYA • SENEGAL
SIERRA LEONE

- When you imagine going to Africa, do you see yourself interacting with the people from your new country?
- Have you thought about learning to speak Swahili, Krio, or Wolof?
- Are you intrigued by the possibility of doing an internship or carrying out an independent project?

If the answer to these questions is "yes"—if you're not interested in being just another "junior year abroad" student—then one of Kalamazoo's Africa programs may be just what you're looking for. Kalamazoo College has been sending students to Africa for more than 30 years.

Each of the programs in Africa features:

- Course work in university classes alongside local students as well as in specially-arranged courses designed to give participants a broad overview of local culture and society.
- Course work in the language of the host country and structured opportunities for using the language in and outside the classroom. In Kenya and Sierra Leone, where the language of instruction at the universities is English, participants also study Swahili and Krio, respectively. In Senegal, where the language of instruction is French, participants enroll in both French and Wolof language courses.
- Independent research projects on a topic of personal interest. Projects can take the form of an internship, a service project, an inquiry about an aspect of the culture, or a study of the life history of local individuals. Students work with local mentors who are familiar with and sensitive to the host culture.

International Studies in Japan

building intercultural skills for the 21st Century

Courses offered in intercultural communication, Japanese language, Japanese culture and society and a selection of general education classes. All courses, except Japanese, are taught in English and there is no prior Japanese language requirement. Participants live with Japanese students in a new dormitory and have many other opportunities to interact with the local community. Come experience the real Japan for yourself!

Live and study in Shizuoka

Study Japanese while you live amid the natural beauty of mountainous central Japan. Electives taught in English—modern Japanese business, international business relations in the Pacific Rim and Japanese art and culture—complement language and history courses. Four days of field study to Kyoto are part of the program. Live with Japanese families with most meals included—a semester to remember the rest of your life!

Live, study and work in Prague

Study in the heart of democratic and cultural revolutions taking place in Europe today. The University of Economics' Central and East European Studies Program offers courses

in the Czech Republic

taught in English —literature, philosophy, management, trade and law. All these and the Czech language can be studied in the summer, too. Live in a newly renovated residence hall and use the meal allowance for cafés, cafeterias or cooking.

ABOUT VIRTUS INSTITUTE

A non-profit corporation. Founded 1989

OUR PHILOSOPHY: We can learn a great deal from books, and benefit from the knowledge of lecturers. But to broaden our education about a country there is nothing like living with its people to introduce us to the mentalities and interests of different geographical locations. We realize that the concept of a Russian National Character" is indeed meaningful, and at the same time we are exposed to the nuances which are so important to a more subtle understanding of a nation. Russian Language and Area Studies then acquire a new dimension.

OUR GOALS:

- To develop ability in speaking, comprehending, reading and writing in the Russian language.
- To deepen Western students' understanding of Russian individuals, family, culture, politics and economics.
- To Break stereotypes and minimize biased perceptions between Russia and the West.
- To create long-lasting friendships between Russians and Westerners.
- To encourage students to continue Russian Language and Area Studies.

Our philosophy and goals result in programs which differ from others by offering a unique combination:

- The semester takes place in 4 cities in Russian and 8 cities in the academic year: on the Volga, the Urals, Siberia, the far east, and naturally Moscow and St. Petersburg. — about 4 - 5 weeks in each university in each city.
- Participants live with Russian families of fellow Russian students of the hosting universities in the different cities.
- In Sochi, participants live with local families. In the last 4 weeks they are joined by Russian students from all over Russia, and also interact with vacationers in Sochi.
- Strong discipline academic program of 6 academic hours a day taught by excellent Russian teachers and professors, 3 hours a day homework in all our programs. In the semester and academic year: you give presentations, submit integrated term papers in Russian, analyze current affairs, based on TV, radio and newspapers, etc.

RESULT: The combination of all of the above results in your in depth knowledge and understanding of Russia, her language, her people, her culture and her soul.

There are a lot of Choices in Studying Abroad.

We Give You a Few More.

East Europe's Renaissance. The dawn of the global community. The Middle-East Peace Accord. All of this is happening right now, and you can be a part of it. If you really want to explore this brave new world, our total-immersion courses are what you need.

Programs for beginners through advanced. For business professionals and students, young and old. And language courses so good that Army and Naval Intelligence units use them for their linguists.

But IntelCross makes sure you get out of school as well – For a breathtaking view of Saint Petersburg from atop a church tower; To go shopping along Charles Bridge in historic Prague; So you join us during a city council meeting. Or to go on our night [illegible] during [illegible] of the local [illegible].

So give us a call today. You already know the phone number!

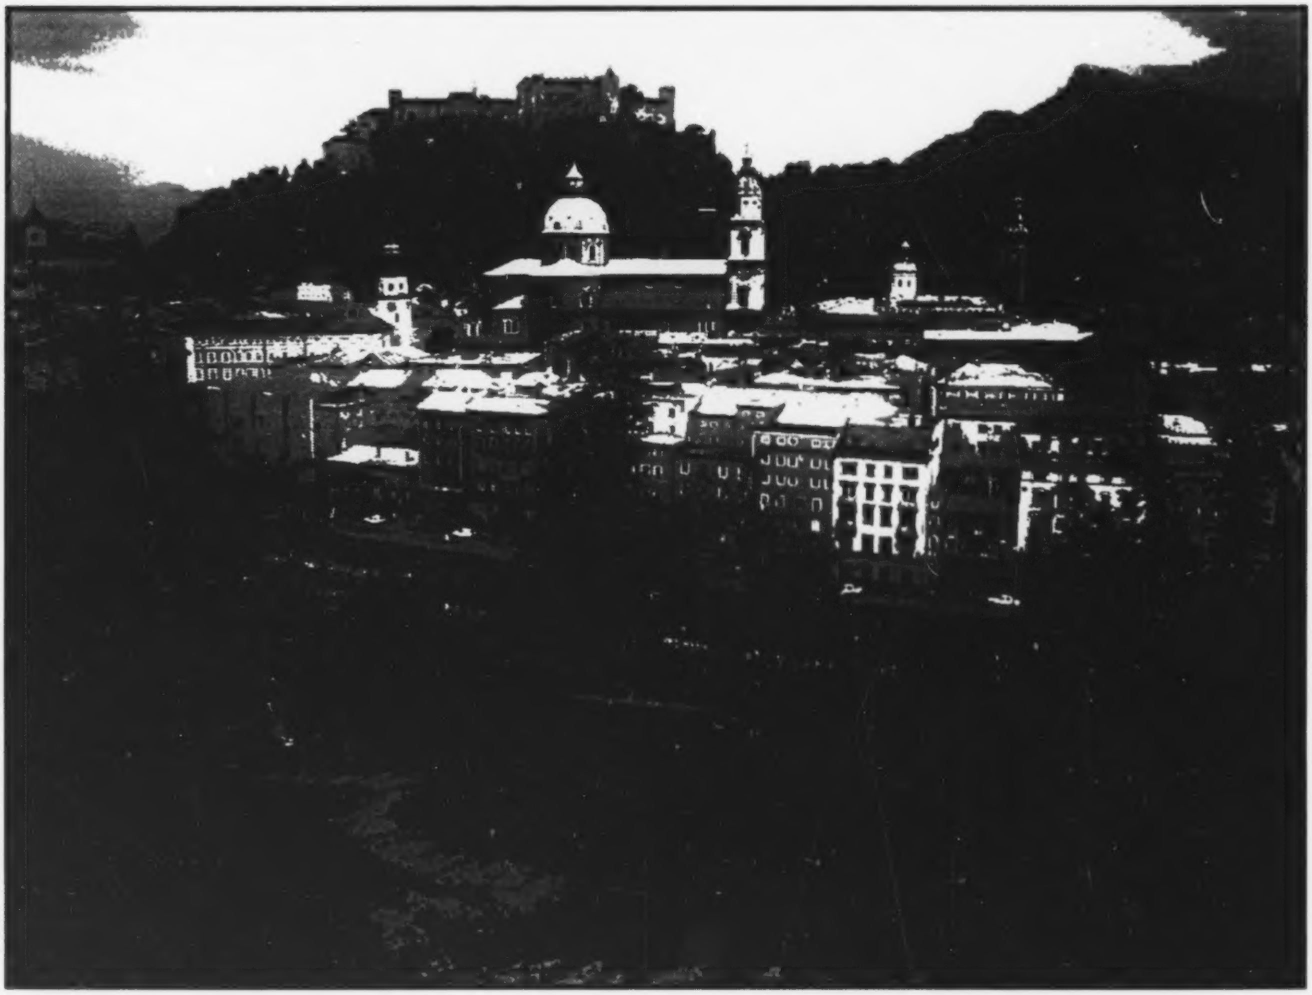
the Salzburg Semester



- For more than 25 years, the University of Redlands Salzburg Semester has offered students a group travel-study program with a strong humanities-based curriculum. The semester combines study in Salzburg, Austria, with field trips to Greece/Italy and former "Eastern Bloc" countries.

- Classes offered in English include European history, Austrian culture, music, German literature in translation and art history. German language is offered at both beginning and intermediate levels. Additional courses are offered by visiting University faculty, who teach in their area of expertise.

- For more information, contact the director of international programs, University of Redlands, 1200 East Colton Avenue, P.O. Box 3080, Redlands, CA 92373-0999 (909) 335-4044.

Comparative European Studies in Vienna.
Because it's not enough
just to look at a map anymore.

If you have an interest in the changing politics and cultures of Central Europe, spend a semester in Vienna. Classes are offered in music, history, political science, business, psychology and even ecology. You'll take an extensive field-study trip to examine the areas under discussion.

Discover the real Europe...

Your exciting courses at DiS are complemented by a real-life, European dimension through observations in the field.

You live and study in Copenhagen, a medieval yet very contemporary continental European metropolis.

Discover Europe study tours take you to major cities in Scandinavia, Western and East Central Europe, and Russia and the Baltic States.

...and the Europeans

For your stay in Copenhagen you are offered a unique housing arrangement: Living with a Danish family as a full family member. A bit awkward? Not at all! Most DiS students state that the family stay is just about the most rewarding aspect of their European experience because it brings you to the core of the Danish culture and vastly expands your own cultural skills.

Housing with Danish students in a 'kollegium' – a European-type student housing – is also available.

Arts, Humanities & Social Sciences

including Environmental Studies

A large number of courses offer eye-opening studies in European culture, history, society and politics, plus the exciting option of learning Danish.

You can choose to combine courses from a wide variety of academic fields to give you a broad view of the European scene. Or you can specialize more narrowly by concentrating on a specific area.

For instance, you can select courses covering the different art forms of ballet, painting, film, and literature.

You can focus on history or combine history and political science courses to make you an expert on current Europe.

You can study the burning problem of ethnicity and nationalism in Europe, or the issues of the natural environment.

International Business

The International Business courses at DiS focus on the business environment, practices and policies of the two most dynamic markets in Europe today:

- The European Union, uniting 12 affluent West European countries, with four more applying, into the world's largest single economic area;
- The new market economies in Russia and Central Europe – a market of enormous potential once the transition from communism to capitalism is completed.

The courses are current and hands-on. They take you to companies in Denmark and Europe, and to EU Headquarters in Brussels, to study business strategy and policy.

Engineering

In cooperation with the Technical University of Denmark

A unique combination is offered to students in Engineering: taking Engineering courses at the Technical University of Denmark (DTU) – the nation's flagship engineering school – plus courses on European politics, history and culture from the DiS curricula.

The courses at DTU are taught in English by Danish faculty for Danish and international students. Selected for their inherent importance, they represent different sectors in Civil and Environmental Engineering.

Architecture, Landscape Architecture, Design

Danish Design and Scandinavian Architecture are world renowned. They represent a tradition of excellence, of careful detailing, human scale, contemporary aesthetics, and full integration of building design, interior design, landscape design and urban planning.

The DiS courses in Architecture, Landscape Architecture, and Design qualify you in this fine tradition. The instructors are practising Danish architects, designers, and professors at the Royal Academy of Fine Arts.

Marine Biology & Ecology

The Marine Biology & Ecology courses address the issues of the marine environment and the impact of human activity upon it. The focus of study is the two uniquely interesting and very different seas bordering Denmark: the North Sea and the Baltic Sea.

In a combination of classroom theory, lab exercises, field work, and study tours in Denmark, Poland and Germany, you will get a thorough introduction to the marine biology and ecology of Northern Europe.

You can also broaden the scope of your studies by adding courses from the Environmental Studies curriculum.

We've spent
29 years
telling students
to go away,
get lost,
and mind
their own

Since 1965, when our first foreign study program was founded, we have been pushing students to explore. • Our eight programs are based on the principle that international education is more than "going abroad." • It's about clarifying values and recognizing abilities. • Our resident directors at each site help students assimilate their experience and enrich their understanding. • That is, when they aren't shoving them out the door.

CENTER FOR OVERSEAS UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

When you think of studying in Paris . . .

Think of COUP.

During the past thirty one years, COUP has assured our students of individual attention and a curriculum which can accommodate each student's academic needs.

If you are looking for a program where you can design a course of studies tailor-made for you, where you can choose from offerings at the University of Paris, at specialized institutes, or from our own courses (supplemented by tutorials when necessary), then COUP is for you.

Applications are now being accepted for the 1995-1996 academic year as well as for the Fall '95 and Spring '96 semesters.

For further information, write to:
Center for Overseas Undergraduate Programs

PARIS
With Hollins Abroad-Paris, one of the first study abroad programs in the country, you will live with a French family, getting a first-hand look at the French way of life. Your classes will be taught in French by prestigious faculty from the Sorbonne. Courses in language, literature, art history, theatre, architecture, politics and social sciences cover the breadth of French culture. Metro pass and numerous museum visits and tours included.
* Optional January program in Lyon.

LONDON
Hollins Abroad-London, based at London University, offers you study in the heart of the city. Taught by eminent British professors, courses range from politics and history to literature, art, Shakespeare and music, and feature prestigious guest speakers, including a former prime minister. Living with a British family, learn the finer aspects of British culture. Unlimited bus and underground passes will enable you to explore London's museums, galleries, and other sights.

HOLLINS-ABROAD
One term or two, one city or two. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors are eligible to apply.

SARAH LAWRENCE COLLEGE IN

PARIS

A pioneering program dedicated to blending the rhythm of Paris with the pace of academic studies

The Sarah Lawrence College in Paris program combines individually crafted programs of study with total immersion in the academic and social life of Paris.

The broad range of options includes enrollment in the great French institutions of learning, with access to a full range of courses usually open only to French students, and small seminars. The hallmark of the program is private tutorials with French faculty, focusing on student interests.

The program is open to students with two years or more of college French. Apartment living and homestays in the heart of Paris are available.

Université de Paris: Sorbonne et Jussieu • Institut d'Etudes Politiques • Ecole du Louvre • Ecole Normale de Musique
Studio Mahé (Photographie) • Art et Progrès (Théâtre) • Ateliers de peintres et sculpteurs
Ecole Supérieure d'Etudes Chorégraphiques

WELLS COLLEGE STUDY PROGRAM FOR THE ARTS IN PARIS

An exciting program especially designed for students attracted to the Arts

This fully accredited program exploits the extraordinary cultural and historical richness of Paris through its emphasis on linguistic immersion, site visits and studio work.

Students enroll in courses such as Medieval Art, Architecture of the Renaissance, Rococo, Impressionism, Art Nouveau, ceramics, drawing, painting, photography and theater, working closely with highly trained instructors and French art students.

The program does not assume any fluency in French, but offers excellent language training with special emphasis on artistic terminology.

Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors in good standing.
Housing in student residences in the center of Paris.
Fees include orientation, tuition and transcript, room and board, academic and personal advising, subway and museum passes, excursions.
Application deadlines: April 1 for fall, October 15 for spring.

For information contact Dr. Lydie Haenlin, Director, Program for the Arts in Paris, Wells College, Aurora, NY 13026 Phone: (315) 364 3308/3288, FAX: (315) 364 3257

KALAMAZOO COLLEGE STUDY ABROAD IN

ERLANGEN

- When you imagine going to Germany, do you see yourself interacting, on a daily basis, with a local family, university students, and other people in the city?
- Do you think about really being able to use German?
- Are you intrigued by the possibility of doing an internship, or carrying out an independent project?

If the answer to these questions is "yes"—if you're not interested in being just another "junior year abroad" student—then Kalamazoo's program in Erlangen may be just what you're looking for. Kalamazoo College has been sending students to Erlangen for more than 30 years.

The Erlangen program is designed to allow participants an insider's view of an area of Germany known for its openness and its Franconian-Bavarian Gemütlichkeit. The program, based at the University of Erlangen-Nürnberg, features:

- Course work in university classes alongside local students.
- Structured opportunities for using German in and outside the classroom.
- Independent research projects on a topic of personal interest. Projects can take the form of an internship, a service project, an inquiry about an aspect of the culture, or a study of the life history of local individuals. Students work with local mentors who are familiar with and sensitive to the host culture.
- Housing with local families.

Interested students should have two years of college-level German or the equivalent, and a 2.75 GPA on a 4.0 scale.

A Unique Country
A Unique Opportunity

THE AMERICAN JUNIOR YEAR AT HEIDELBERG UNIVERSITY

Heidelberg College offers you three unique opportunities to further your language proficiency in the heart of a unique country. The Junior Year program enables qualified college and university students to spend a full junior year, a semester or a shortened semester at one of Germany's outstanding centers of education and culture—the University of Heidelberg. Since 1958, over 700 students from 300 colleges and universities have been challenged by the intensive study offered there.

Today's study-abroad students are looking for that special opportunity to live a language, as well as learn it. Your success may depend upon how well those educational experiences are designed. Write us at The American Junior Year at Heidelberg University for information on how 37 years of international experience can help you realize your foreign-study goals.

Study in Potsdam, Germany.
Without the Wall
you'll get a whole new view.

Today's German universities are dynamic centers of academic change. Beaver College's program at the University of Potsdam allows students with significant German language skill to enroll in fully-integrated undergraduate classes on three campuses. Located just outside Berlin in the former East Germany, you'll gain a view of culture, education and society from a different perspective.

SARAH LAWRENCE COLLEGE

Florence

Located in a 15th-century palazzo in the heart of this Renaissance city, the program offers students the opportunity to live intimately among Florence's masterpieces, its people and culture.

Sarah Lawrence College in Florence combines individually designed programs of study with total immersion in the academic and social life of Florence.

The broad range of options includes enrollment in the University of Florence. Students can be placed in internships and apprenticeships with some of Florence's finest artists and scholars. Hallmarks of the program are private tutorials and small seminars with distinguished Italian faculty.

The program is open to students who speak Italian, and to students who are new to the language. Homestays as well as apartment living in the heart of Florence are available.

Study in Rome!

Trinity College/Rome Campus: Fall or Spring Semester Programs

Trinity College/Rome Campus offers a rich learning experience to students who wish to broaden their cultural horizons through on-site academic instruction. The Fall and Spring Semester Programs offer courses in art history, history, Italian language, political science, and other liberal arts.

In addition to our regular curriculum, we are pleased to announce that courses in English literature will be offered during the 1995 Fall Semester, and courses in economics and psychology will be taught during the 1996 Spring Semester. These are one-time offerings, unique to the 1995 Fall and 1996 Spring Semester Programs!

Knox College
Program in Barcelona

Knox College offers a complete program of study in conjuction with the University of Barcelona in Spain.

Founded in 218 B.C., Barcelona is an architectural treasure, with a beautiful Gothic Quarter and world-famous Art Nouveau buildings. The city has a rich cultural life and is close to Mediterranean beaches and the Pyrennees mountains.

Since 1969, the Knox program has offered an invaluable immersion into Spanish culture providing instruction by University of Barcelona faculty and housing with local families.

Live and study in Granada or Salamanca

Experience Spain in the "Oxford of the Spanish world" (Salamanca) or amid the high mountains and sunny coastline of Granada. Week-long study trips to major points of interest in Spain are part of the month-long orientation. Live with local families who provide meals. Besides beginning to advanced Spanish language, courses range from European business, literature, economics, art, history and geography (some courses in Granada are taught in English).

We've spent
29 years
telling students
to go away,
get lost,
and mind
their own

Since 1965, when our first foreign study program was founded, we have been pushing students to explore. • Our eight programs are based on the principle that international education is more than "going abroad." • It's about clarifying values and recognizing abilities. • Our resident directors at each site help students assimilate their experience and enrich their understanding. • That is, when they aren't shoving them out the door.

Live and Study in Spain

Madrid/Salamanca

Undergraduate division: The language and literature of Spain and Latin America, history, civilization, fine arts, music, cinema, the social sciences, Spanish politics, and the European Community. One semester, one year, or three years of fully accredited academic study. An ideal way to master the Spanish language and experience aspects of Hispanic culture.

Graduate division: Two degree programs: Master of Arts in literature and Master of Arts in Hispanic civilization. M.A. degree may be completed in one year of study. Course requirements for the Ph.D. may also be partially fulfilled in Spain.

Courses taught by eminent Spanish scholars under the supervision of a New York University professor. Trips to historic sites; attendance at theatrical performances, concerts, and films; tours of museums. All courses conducted in Spanish.

New York University Program in Madrid is offered in the fall and spring at the International Institute, in one of the most elegant neighborhoods in central Madrid. The summer program is at the distinguished University of Salamanca. For more information, call (212) 998-8760, 8761.

We've studied in the
for over three decades.

At Beaver College, we do our homework. We know what's going on in British education, and we pass that knowledge on to you. We work with you throughout your experience to make sure you're getting the most from it, and that you can use the credits you earn toward graduation on your home campus. If there's one thing we've learned in 30 years, it's that experience counts.

Study education in England or Ireland.
Because there's so much more to learn.

You want to be the best teacher you can be. Add to your knowledge by experiencing the educational system of another country. At Mary Immaculate College in Ireland, Christ Church College Canterbury or the University College of Ripon and York St. John in England, you can take part in field-based teaching experiences in addition to your regular education courses, and learn more than you've ever imagined as you help to shape young minds.

There's a lot of HISTORY here...

and ARTS, and BUSINESS, and ENGLISH, and ECONOMICS, and GEOGRAPHY, and LANGUAGES, and POLITICS, and SOCIOLOGY, and...

How will you succeed in the next century? Around the world, students are busy preparing themselves for tomorrow by using their learning years to discover and understand different cultures and countries.

Now Queen's University in Canada, one of the world's most respected educational institutions, has established the International Study Centre at Herstmonceux Castle.

Herstmonceux is a state-of-the-art education facility within the historic walls of a 15th century castle. The Castle is located in East Sussex, England, just 110 km south of London and 50 km from the Channel Tunnel to the European continent.

Herstmonceux Castle
Calais
FRANCE

Herstmonceux accepts students from around the world who have completed at least one year of university. Students at the Castle develop an in-depth understanding of Europe while studying courses in arts, business, humanities, or social sciences. The curriculum consists of fully accredited Canadian university courses, allowing students to continue earning credits toward their degree.

So you want to become president?
Spend some time in Oxford.

Develop your leadership skills in one of England's most challenging educational environments. Our Oxford Semester combines all the rigor required of true scholars with all the extracurricular opportunities afforded to well-rounded future leaders. Study Shakespeare in the Bodleian library and become a member of the debating team. Take tea at your Oxford College, go punting on the Cherwell and earn the credit you would for a semester in the USA, but with an Oxfordian edge. You never know where it might all lead.

Give Yourself the Oxford Edge

Postgraduate Year & Semester Abroad

Based in Oxford, England's oldest university city.

The postgraduate year and semester abroad offers High School graduates the opportunity of taking stimulating academic courses in Oxford, whilst enjoying the student life of this famous university city. The teaching method follows that favoured by the university, with an emphasis on the weekly one-to-one tutorial and small seminar groups, allowing for close individual supervision. Academic work is complemented by cultural visits and there is an opportunity to take part in most sports.

Those intending to apply to British universities are given careful guidance, and 'The British Degree Program' offers students a four-year degree course, with a foundation year in Oxford followed by three years at a prestigious university.

at Oxford

"In Oxford, there is almost nothing you cannot learn."—Jan Morris

Sarah Lawrence College at Oxford offers students the unparalleled opportunity to work individually with Oxford scholars in private tutorials, the hallmark of an Oxford education.

Open to qualified undergraduates, it is the only program sponsored by an American college that gives students from other colleges access to the full range of tutors and disciplines of Oxford University's 33 colleges. In addition, each student has a wide range of privileges in Wadham College. This special relationship gives students access to the College's junior common rooms, athletic teams, library, dining halls and social events, as well as voting rights in the Student Union.

Wroxton College

Spend a Summer, Semester or Academic Year in England

- Located just an hour from London and minutes from Oxford and Stratford-upon-Avon.
- Live and study in a fully restored and modernized 17th-century Jacobean mansion. Originally constructed as an Augustinian priory in 1215 A.D., Wroxton Abbey has welcomed British monarchs and other historical and literary figures throughout its history.
- Choose from courses in English literature, theatre, drama, fine arts, social sciences, education, economics and international business – all taught by a resident British faculty and guest lecturers from government, the Royal Shakespeare Company and Britain's leading universities.
- Tuition and fees include cost of extensive travel throughout Great Britain and the Continent, as well as admission to theatrical productions in Stratford and London.

KALAMAZOO COLLEGE ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES IN ECUADOR

Kalamazoo's Environmental Studies Program in Ecuador focuses on the growing conflict between the desire to develop Ecuador's economy and the need to preserve its ecological resources.

Ecuador is one of the premier sites in the world for studying the effects of economic development on the environment: one-fifth the size of Brazil, Ecuador contains 70 percent of all species found in the Amazon Basin, and has more than twice the number of plant species found in the United States.

Participants in the program:

- Do interdisciplinary course work in environmental studies at the Universidad San Francisco de Quito, enrolling in courses regularly offered through the University's College of Environmental Science.
- Travel to and study several areas of the country; past excursions have included the Amazonian rain forest, "El Angel Páramo" of the Andes, and shrimp farms on the Pacific Coast.
- Undertake an independent field research project, working with mentors from the University who assist them in focusing on and designing the project.
- Spend a week in the Galápagos Islands, traveling by boat from island to island, observing the island's extraordinary variety of plants and animals, and studying the effects of ecotourism.

Eligible students will have completed two years of college-level Spanish or the equivalent, as well as course work in biological and/or environmental sciences.

- The Foreign Student Study Center offers foreign students the opportunity to learn Spanish as well as to acquire knowledge of Mexico and Latin America in areas such as business, history, culture, politics, economics, literature and other subjects.
- The school has summer, quarter, semester, and academic year programs.
- Three credits are granted for every 50 hours of class work.
- We offer 10 levels of Spanish, plus content courses for those students that have an advanced level of Spanish. Each of the levels is completed over a period of five weeks. Each Spanish language class has a reduced number of students for better instruction.
- Additional services include:
  Lodging and meals with Mexican families.
  Optional workshops—Guitar and Singing, Folkloric Dance, Drawing and Painting, and Mexican Cuisine.
  Excursions and guided tours to interesting sites of the city and the country, and much more.
- Locations in Guadalajara, Puerto Vallarta, Mexico and Los Angeles, California.

Study Spanish in Guadalajara, so you can understand what millions of people have to say.

Today it's more essential than ever to understand Spanish. When you study with us at the Autonomous University of Guadalajara, you study Spanish at the level that suits your linguistic ability. You gain cultural understanding by living with a Mexican family. And advanced students can look forward to taking regular undergraduate classes in a variety of subject areas, from math to Mexican history.

Experience

Oaxaca

Mexico - Past, Present and Future

Amid the mountains of the Sierra Madre del Sur, where descendants of the Zapotec and Mixtec civilizations continue today much as they did before the arrival of the Europeans, lies the city of Oaxaca. A charming and vibrant state capital, Oaxaca is set in one of the most ethnically and culturally complex regions of Mexico. With courses taught by an award-winning faculty, the University of Pennsylvania's program in Oaxaca offers students the opportunity to experience the dynamics of political, social and economic change in Mexico, while exploring the rich cultural and historical legacies of this region.

- Living arrangements with families in Mexican households
- Courses available in: anthropology, history, political science, literature, and Spanish language.
- Independent studies offered in a variety of subjects

Appendix: Statistics on Study Abroad

Study-Abroad statistics are a recent addition to IIE's Open Doors*, which for 40 years has reported the annual enrollment of foreign students at U.S. colleges and universities. In 1985/86, IIE began a biennial survey of U.S. students earning degree credit for international study. Data on the fourth biennial survey was reported in* Open Doors 1992/93*—and reported U.S. study-abroad statistics for the 1991/92 academic year. As relatively few campus study-abroad staff receive* Open Doors*, given its major focus on foreign students, the relevant chapter is reprinted here. Most active campus study-abroad offices receive* Academic Year Abroad.

Beginning in 1994/95, IIE plans to commence annual surveys of U.S. study-abroad enrollment and to make the data available in this publication as well as in Open Doors*. The Institute's international student statistical surveys are made possible by grant support from the U.S. Information Agency. The research is conducted by the IIE Research Division under the direction of Todd M. Davis, and with the guidance of the International Education Data Collection Committee, composed of representatives of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers (AACRAO), the Institute of International Education (IIE), and NAFSA: Association of International Educators.*

BACKGROUND

Despite strong interest in the flow of U.S. students overseas, data in this area have been scarce. Efforts by the Institute of International Education to measure this flow in the past were abandoned in the early eighties due to low response rates to the study abroad survey.

In 1985/86, in response to strong interest in U.S. higher education circles, IIE designed a new survey to gauge study abroad flows. This methodology yields the most comprehensive data on U.S. study abroad, capturing students going abroad through programs sponsored by a U.S. university or other entity, as well as those directly enrolled in overseas institutions. The survey, supported by a grant from Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the United States Information Agency, has been carried out biennially; the 91/92 survey is the fourth in the series.

This survey focuses on study abroad for academic credit. Study abroad population has been narrowly defined as only those students who received academic credit from a U.S. accredited institution of higher education after they returned from their study abroad experience. Students studying abroad without credit transfers are not included here. Also not included are U.S. students enrolled overseas for degrees, as reported in Unesco figures. The number of students who receive academic credit is inevitably lower than the number of all students who go abroad. Hence, the figures presented here give a conservative picture of study abroad activity.

THE 1991/92 SURVEY

Survey forms were sent to 1,176 accredited colleges and universities throughout the United States which either had reported study abroad students in one of the three previous surveys, or were listed as having study abroad programs in IIE's Academic Year Abroad and Vacation Study Abroad.

Campus officials were asked to provide information on the total number of students to whom their institution has awarded credit for study abroad in 1991/92, including the summer of 1992. They were also asked to provide breakdowns, where possible, on the type of study abroad the students participated in (college sponsored, direct enrollment, etc); on the duration of their study; their academic level, gender, and current major field of study; and on the countries in which they studied.

This year, a new form was included in the survey to allow officials to report all students studying toward a degree at their institution who participated in study abroad, regardless of whether the reporting school awarded credit for the study abroad activity. The purpose of this is to capture the total study abroad activity on each campus.

Study abroad information was obtained from 925 or 79% of the 1,176 surveyed institutions, as shown in Table 1. Of the schools that responded, 171 did not award any study abroad credit in 1991/92, while 754 reported granting credit for study abroad.

Not all institutions that reported giving credit for study abroad in 1991/92 provided detailed information about the characteristics of the students, as shown in Table 2. The proportion of schools that gave breakdowns for individual variables ranged from 46% for field of study to 84% for host country.

FINDINGS

Total Number of American Students Studying Abroad. A total of 71,154 students received academic credit for study in another country in 1991/92, 427 more than the 70,727 reported in 1989/90 (Table 3). Study abroad activity has expanded substantially since 1985/86, when 48,483 students were reported as having completed part of their studies in another country. (Part of the increase may be explained by the higher response rate to the survey in recent years).

Type of Program. Of the 71,154 students reported as receiving credit for studying abroad in 1991/92, 81.6% were enrolled in programs sponsored by U.S. institutions of higher education and 8.1% were directly enrolled in foreign schools (Table 4). An additional 10.3% were in other types of programs, mainly programs run by consortia of colleges and universities in which credit is awarded by the consortium rather than by any one institution. Since the mid-eighties, the proportion of students participating in U.S. institution-sponsored programs has been declining, going from 88% in 1985/86 to 82% in 1991/92. At the same time, the proportion participating in "other" programs has almost doubled, from 6% to 10%.

World Region of Destination. As in past years, Europe was by far the destination of the largest majority of Americans who studied abroad in 1991/92, 71% of them choosing to study there (Table 5). Lagging far behind Europe was Latin America, hosting 12% of Americans studying abroad. Asia attracted 6% of the students in 1991/92, Oceania and the Middle East 3% each, Africa 2%, and North America 1%. The most noteworthy changes in flows since 1985/86 are that the share of Americans studying in Europe has fallen by ten percentage points, while the share going to Latin America has risen by five points.

Countries of Destination. Because of the concentration of foreign students in one region, namely Europe, it is most useful to examine the countries of destination of American students in a worldwide context, rather than by world regions. Four of the top five receiving countries were in Western Europe and received over half (52%) of all U.S. students studying overseas (Table 6). The 20 top countries of destination hosted the vast majority (86%) of all American students studying overseas.

The United Kingdom hosted a full 23.3% of the American students, followed by France with 11.5%. The next eight countries were Spain (10%), Italy (7.5%), Mexico (6.5%), Germany (4.9%), Japan (2.8%), Australia (2.8%), Israel (2.6%), and Austria (2.5%).

It is interesting to note that Russia, despite political uncertainties in recent years, ranks eleventh among the most popular host countries, receiving 49% of the students indicating Eastern Europe as their destination. Americans studying in Eastern Europe account for 5% of the students studying in Europe generally, and 4% of all Americans studying overseas. Other than Russia, popular countries in Eastern Europe were Hungary (27% of the Eastern European total), Poland (16%), and Czechoslovakia (12%).

It is also interesting to note that, in some world regions, a single country received a substantial portion of the students going to the region. Israel, for example, hosted 94% of the students going to the Middle East. Similarly, Mexico held 53% of the United States students studying in Latin America and Japan received 48% of the students going to Asia.

In other parts of the world, the student patterns are as follows: In Africa, Kenya was the largest receiver with 0.6% of the overall study abroad total. In North America, Canada had 0.9% of all students, and, finally, in Oceania, Australia was the regional leader, with 2.8%. (Since many students studied in more than one country within a region, the country percentages add up to more than 100%. Percentage calculations are further complicated by the fact that for close to 1% of the students going to Europe, no country of destination was specified).

Fields of Study. The data in Table 7 indicate that Americans who go abroad to study do so for very different reasons than those of foreign students who come to study in the United States. In contrast to foreign nationals in this country, Americans had home-campus majors largely in the humanities and social sciences, with relatively few in engineering and in hard science fields. The largest group of students who went abroad to study, 20%, majored in humanities upon their return. (Liberal Arts as a separate field was eliminated in the 1991/92 survey, resulting in the addition to the humanities of some students who formerly would have been listed under Liberal Arts). The second largest group, 17% of the study abroad population, studied toward degrees in the social sciences. While nearly four-tenths (37.4%) of American students going abroad majored in the humanities and social sciences, the proportion of foreign students in the United States who were in both these fields was a very low 11.4%.

Relatively large shares of the Americans who studied abroad were also held by those who majored in foreign languages (14%), and, interestingly, in business and management (12%). Only 6.5% of Americans abroad studied engineering, physical and life sciences, and math and computer sciences combined when they came back.

Since 1985/86, the proportions of study abroad students in the different fields of study have remained relatively stable. However, it is worth noting that the percentages of students majoring in the humanities and in foreign languages fell during this period (from 26% to 21% and from 17% to 14%, respectively). On the other hand, the proportions in the fine and applied arts and the social sciences rose (from 7% to 10% and from 14% to 17%, respectively).

Academic Level. Not surprisingly, the vast majority (91.8%) of the study abroad population were at the undergraduate (bachelor and associate) level (Table 8). Of these, 90.7% were studying for a bachelor's and 1.1% for an associate degree. Of the students at the bachelor's level, the largest group (38.3%) were juniors, followed by seniors who made up 14.0%. Sophomores accounted for 11.4% and freshmen for 2.5%. For a large proportion (24.5%) of the bachelor's degree candidates, specific year of study was not provided.

Only 8% of the Americans who went abroad to study were graduate students (up from 6% in 1987/88). This contrasts sharply with the foreign nationals studying in the United States, 45.6% of whom were at the graduate level in 1991/92, constituting the largest academic-level based subgroup of foreign students.

Duration of Study. Over a third (37.5%) of students studying abroad did so for the duration of one semester, as Table 9 shows. Close to one-third (30.8%) went abroad only for the summer, while 15.9% spent the entire academic year in the host country. A rather small group (9.7%) stayed for a single academic quarter and a scant 0.6% spent a full calendar year overseas.

The time spent abroad by American students in 1991/92 is similar to the time spent by students in 1985/86 and in subsequent years. The only notable exceptions are that the proportion of students who spent a quarter abroad increased slightly, while the proportion who received credit for academic year study abroad fell slightly.

Gender. The gender distribution of the American students who travel abroad for study was the inverse of that of the foreign students in the United States, as indicated in Table 10. Just over one-third (37%) of the American students abroad were male, while a corresponding two-thirds were female (63%). The gender breakdown for foreign students in the United States is 63% male and 37% female. The male to female ratio among Americans studying abroad has remained stable since the mid-eighties.

CAMPUS ACTIVITY FORM

ALL STUDENTS STUDYING FOR A DEGREE AT YOUR INSTITUTION WHO STUDIED ABROAD

This form offers you the opportunity to report ALL of the students studying for a degree at your institution who participated in study abroad (regardless of who sponsored or awarded credit for the study abroad activity).

In this form you can include students studying for a degree at your institution who:
a) participated in study abroad programs administered by your institution,
b) participated in study abroad programs administered by other institutions or agencies (e.g. consortia, foreign institutions)
c) any other students who studied abroad and are not included in a) and b).

If you do not have this information, do not worry. We will continue to publish the appendix showing the number of students receiving study abroad credit by institution awarding the first U.S. credit.

• • •

- Please complete and return the Preliminary Data Form and the Step 2 Form whether or not you can complete this form.
- Please do not report the TOTAL from this form on the Preliminary Data and the Step 2 forms. On those forms, you should report the total number of students to whom your institution awarded the first U.S. credit for study abroad (including students studying toward a degree at other institutions).
- To ensure inclusion in Open Doors, please return this form no later than March 1, 1993.
- Information on the respondents to the survey appears on the Preliminary Data form. Please make any necessary changes there.

1. Did any American students (U.S. citizens or permanent residents) studying toward a degree at your institution study abroad during 1991/92, including the summer of 1992? Yes ☐ No ☐

2. If "Yes", how many? (Please provide the TOTAL even if you do not have data on the breakdowns)

a) participated in your institution's programs
b) participated in programs run by other U.S. institutions or agencies (e.g. consortia)
c) any other students who studied abroad and are not included in a) and b)

Index I: Sponsoring Institutions

Programs are indexed alphabetically by sponsoring institution. References are to sequential book entry numbers, not to the page on which the sponsor's entry appears.

Study-abroad programs with up to three sponsors are indexed by the name of one, two or three sponsor organizations. Other programs are sponsored by larger groups of colleges and universities, or consortia. Index I: Sponsoring Institutions identifies these programs by the name of the consortium only. Index II: Consortia lists the member colleges and universities of each consortium that sponsors a program.

Index II: Consortia

Many programs are sponsored by consortia of colleges and universities. This index lists the member institutions of all consortia that sponsor programs in this book. For the book's purposes, a consortium is a group of more than three colleges and universities that jointly offer a study-abroad program.

Students enrolled at a member institution of the consortia listed below should typically apply for admission through their home campus. Others should apply to the administering school or consortium office.

Index III: Fields of Study

Programs are indexed by field of study, and by country within field. Most fields of study are as given in the Classification of Instructional Programs of the National Center for Education Statistics. However, IIE has adapted the classification to accommodate the especially rich study-abroad opportunities in languages, civilization, culture, and other subjects specific to international study, adding a number of additional fields to the basic set.

Index IV: Special Options

Most programs in this book are intended for undergraduate students beyond the first year. However, a substantial number of programs offer graduate credit, or will accept freshmen or precollege students, or provide special opportunities for teachers, adults and professionals. This index can help to identify study opportunities for the many study-abroad candidates who are not upper-level undergraduates.

Users of this book can also use this index to find programs that offer study options other than the typical academic lecture, seminar or tutorial. Indexed below are such options as art studios, directed field study, independent study, internships, practical training, student teaching, study tours and voluntary service.

Index V: Cost Ranges

Use this index for approximate guidance only. Programs are indexed on the lowest cost option they offer as a package fee, which is virtually always for the shortest period of study offered.

Each range indicates specifically whether international travel is included in the cost or not. However, readers must consult individual program entries to determine what else is included in the program fee. Tuition, housing, food, fees, insurance, books and materials, international and local transportation are the basic categories of expenses incurred in studying abroad. Program fees may include all or only some of these costs.

Remember that IIE conducts the research for this book approximately one year before actual program dates. Program sponsors have the option of providing current actual charges or projected fees for the year covered by this book. Entries indicate which year's charges are provided.

Programs sponsored by foreign organizations often provide their costs in foreign currency. Because of exchange fluctuations, it is not useful to provide dollar equivalents for prices stated in foreign currencies. Use exchange rates current at the time of application to calculate approximate costs.

All applicants are well-advised to contact the program sponsor directly for the most up-to-date information on program charges before making a decision. Although program sponsors typically seek to stabilize prices, many factors can influence the cost of an international program. Contact the program sponsor for final information.

IIE's Comprehensive Reference To Semester and Academic Year-Length Study in Other Nations

ACADEMIC YEAR ABROAD 1995/96

Over 2,200 programs. Academic Year Abroad describes some 1,700 programs sponsored by accredited U.S. post-secondary institutions—and hundreds more developed for U.S. students by foreign universities and other organizations.

The standard reference on study abroad. IIE's Academic Year Abroad and Vacation Study Abroad are U.S. higher education's standard information resources on international study, used by students and academic advisers nationwide. U.S. undergraduates and adult learners will find information on programs that combine travel and study in Eastern and Western Europe, Asia, Africa, Oceania, the Middle East and the Americas—over 70 countries worldwide.

Educational opportunities for undergraduate and adult learners. Essentially all 2,200-plus educational opportunities are available to undergraduates. Many programs are also open to precollege students, graduate students, teachers, professionals and other adults. Learning options range from lecture courses and intensive language immersion to internships, student teaching, field research and voluntary service.
